The Driver of a C6 Corvette Clocked at 133 MPH Earns Speeding Title and Trip to See a Virginia Judge

A 21-year-old Corvette driver in Virginia has the dubious distinction of setting the fastest speed ever clocked by the Leesburg, Virginia Police Department.

Luke Jones of Leesburg came roaring past an officer going 88 mph ABOVE the legal limit in his blue 2007 Corvette coupe on Virginia Route 7 near Battlefield Parkway just before 5 p.m. on May 11.

The officer clocked the Corvette at a whopping 133 mph – in a 45 mph zone – which Leesburg police spokesman Michael Drogin says to his knowledge is the fastest speed a driver has ever been charged by the department.

Generally, speeding is treated as a traffic offense, but Jones faces a mandatory appearance in court on a more serious misdemeanor criminal charge of reckless driving by speed.

We're impressed that an officer in a 2014 Ford Police Interceptor Sedan was able to catch up with Jones.

Canadian Corvette Driver Receives $2K Fine for Speeding 151 MPH on the Coquihalla Highway

A Canadian man caught speeding along the Coquihalla Highway in British Columbia at more than 150 mph last year in his Blade Silver C7 Corvette Z06 says he now regrets his actions after he had received the maximum fine in court Tuesday.

Winston Teck Seng Khng, 52, of Lower Mainland, British Columbia pleaded guilty to excessive speeding "in his new dream car" and was ordered to pay a $2,000 fine.

"I just want to say sorry for my actions," Khng said in court.

At the time of the incident, which occurred on the Coquihalla, a major road connecting the southern Trans-Canada route with the northern Trans-Canada/ Yellowhead route in western Canada, Khng's Corvette was impounded. Now, his lawyer says he is considering selling the Corvette to help pay for his daughter's university tuition.

The incident dates back to April 17, 2021 when a Mountie running radar in the Brody area, south of Merritt, pegged Khng as he flew around a corner in his Corvette at 243 km/h (or 151 mph), more than double the posted speed limit of 120 km/h (or 68 mph).

C7 Corvette Impounded in Canada After Caught Speeding at Nearly Double the Limit

It could have been worse for the driver of this Arctic White C7 Corvette Z06 coupe caught speeding at double the speed limit in London, Ontario, Canada this week.

He was pulled over after being clocked at 158 kilometers per hour (98 mph), nearly double the 80 km/h (50 mph) limit.

Ontario officials are considering changes to the Highway Traffic Act that would stiffen penalties to a 30-day license suspension and 14-day vehicle impoundment for drivers caught going 40 km/h (25 mph) over the limit.

As it stands now, this Z06 driver will lose both his license and his Corvette for a week, the automatic penalties for drivers clocked going at least 50 km/h (31 mph) over the limit.

Speeding C5 Corvette Driver Clocked at 128 MPH in a 65 MPH Zone

Authorities in Oklahoma have taken to Facebook to make a point on traffic enforcement with the public shaming of this C5 Corvette driver who was caught speeding 128 MPH in a 65 MPH zone.

The photo of the radar gun and the Corvette was posted by the Tulsa Police Department who originally posted it with the headline, "In a hurry to get to the New Year?"

Tulsa authorities go on to say the driver is facing a court date in addition to the speeding ticket as he was traveling at over 21 MPH above the posted limit which adds an "Aggravated Speeding" charge.

Man Caught Driving a C7 Corvette at 150 MPH Arrested in New Hampshire

The driver of a C7 Corvette is probably going to be cooling his heels for a while now after being caught speeding at 150 mph on Route 16 in Rochester, New Hampshire on Thursday evening.

Unfortunately, it's not his first encounter with law enforcement as the New Hampshire State Police arrested and charged the unnamed driver with operating after a suspension and reckless operation.

The bust was made by Sergeant Johnston of NHSP Troop E and a photo of the stopped Corvette with a very tall wing was shared to the state police's Facebook Page.

Speedy Corvette Driver Arrested After Being Clocked at 155 MPH on I-10 in Phoenix

If the driver of this gray C7 Corvette was hoping that 2021 would be better than the pandemic-plagued 2020, he's definitely getting off on the wrong foot.

In fact, his right foot has already landed him in a pile of trouble after Arizona troopers clocked him at 155 mph on Interstate 10 and Baseline Road in Phoenix, Arizona.

The Department of Public Safety posted a photo on Twitter on Jan. 2, showing the trooper's laser gun with the speed of the Stingray in question, stopped on the side of the road in the background.

Jake Anthony Aiello, 25, was arrested Saturday but has already been released, with no word on the charges he's facing.

NCV Business Meeting Minutes

April 5, 2022

1. CALL TO ORDER:

President Carm Finocchiaro called the meeting to order at 6:30 pm.

1. APPROVAL OF MINUTES:

Motion to approve was made by Don Wolfe, seconded by Scott White, and approved unanimously by the members present.

1. INTRODUCTION OF VISITORS:

Scott McClellan, Membership Chair, introduced guest Scott Johnson, son of Susan and Doug Johnson.

1. MEMBERSHIP REPORT:

Scott McClellan reported 26 members plus one guest in attendance. Current total membership reported is 65.

1. TREASURER'S REPORT:

Submitted by Dave Tracy. Deposits were made from the following revenue: Dues, Corvette drinking glasses, Flag contribution, 50/50 raffle and Car show T-shirts. Expenses payable included hospitality and car show costs. The club treasury maintains a positive balance as of 3/31/22.

Old Business:

Past President Gary Pebley presented Dave Tracy, Treasurer, a plaque for his 2021 service as treasurer.

1. NEW BUSINESS:

President Carm Finocchiaro introduced for discussion the issue of US service flags displayed at the car show. Last year the flags were provided by the local Young Marines program. The issue for consideration is whether the club should purchase the flags or continue renting them annually for the car show. The cost of renting the flags is approximately $700.00. The cost for multiple flags and flag poles with stands likely would be more. Additional issues to consider include: How to pay for the flags (there is currently $95.00 in the flag fund), where to store the flags, if the purchase would provide a return on investment should the car show not be held in the future, and should we use the 50/50 raffle proceeds for the flag fund. This issue will be researched further before a final recommendation is made.

50/50 Rob Hogue won $27.00.

1. VETTES FOR VETERANS UPDATE:

President Carm Finocchiaro gave an update on the planning for the car show. Volunteers are still needed to fill the positions of Chairperson, Chief Judge, Judges and Awards Presenter as well as club member volunteers to work the day of the show.

JD Duncan and Ruth Kurisu will coordinate with our charity groups to determine judges for the show as has been done in the past.

The date of the car show has been changed to November 12, 2022, as there will be more club members available to help on this date. The Shoppes at Carlsbad has approved the date.

Carm Finocchiaro will send new registration forms to last year's registered attendees and to other Corvette car clubs.

JD Duncan has had discussions with Premier Chevrolet for a sponsor donation. He is waiting for their response.
